VALUES AND VISION STATEMENT

To provide, in partnership, a high-quality education within a caring environment enabling all individuals to fulfil their full potential effectively.

To ensure that every pupil with SEND makes progress through access to provision that ensures pupils are fully supported, enabling them to unlock their potential, realise their greatness and thrive and fully participate within the wider community.

AIMS

The aims of the SEND Report and Policy cannot be separated from those of the whole school teaching and learning expectations. The Heys School remains committed to a wholly inclusive educational experience in which all students feel valued and have access to a broad, balanced curriculum, with quality first teaching at its core. Every teacher at The Heys School is a teacher of students with special needs.

All members of staff within the school community have a responsibility to ensure that every student has an equal opportunity to attain their maximum progress in all aspects of the curriculum.

These aims ensure that the outcomes of all students with special educational needs are improved by having high aspirations and expectations to ensure they:

- Achieve their best.
- Become confident individuals living fulfilling lives.
- Make successful transition into adulthood, whether into employment, further education or training

To achieve our aims The Heys School will:

- Identify and provide for students who have special educational needs and additional needs.
- Work within the guidance provided in the SEND Code of Practice, 2014
- Operate a holistic, whole school approach to the management and provision of support for special educational needs.
- Provide a Special Educational Needs and Disability Coordinator (SENDCO) who will lead the implementation of the SEND Report and Policy and provide support and advice for all staff working with special educational needs students.

Legislation and guidance

This policy and information report is based on the statutory Special Educational Needs and Disability \(SEND\) Code of Practice and the following legislation:

Part 3 of the Children and Families Act 2014, which sets out schools' responsibilities for pupils with SEND and disabilities.

The Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014, which set out schools' responsibilities for education, health and care (EHC) plans, SEND co-ordinators (SENDCOs) and the SEND information report.

Definitions

A student has SEND if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them.

They have a learning difficulty or disability if they have:

- A significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age, or
- A disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools.

Special educational provision is educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, that made generally for other children or young people of the same age by mainstream schools.

SEND information report

Provision

Our school currently provides additional and/or different provision for a range of needs, including:

- Communication and interaction, for example, autistic spectrum disorder, Asperger's Syndrome, speech and language difficulties
- Cognition and learning, for example, dyslexia, dyspraxia
- Social, emotional and mental health difficulties, for example, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD)
- Sensory and/or physical needs, for example, visual impairments, hearing impairments, processing difficulties, epilepsy
- Moderate/severe/profound and multiple learning difficulties

Identifying pupils with SEND and assessing their needs.

We will assess each student's current skills and levels of attainment on entry, which will build on previous settings and key stages, where appropriate. Class teachers will make regular assessments of progress for all pupils and identify those whose progress:

- Is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline.
- Fails to match or better the child's previous rate of progress.

- Fails to close the attainment gap between the child and their peers.
- Widens the attainment gap.

This may include progress in areas other than attainment, for example, social needs.

Slow progress and low attainment will not automatically mean a student is recorded as having SEND.

When deciding whether special educational provision is required, we will start with the desired outcomes, including the expected progress and attainment, and the views and the wishes of the student and their parents. We will use this to determine the support that is needed and whether we can provide it by adapting our core offer, or whether something different or additional is needed.

Consulting and involving pupils and parents.

We will have an early discussion with the student and their parents when identifying whether they need special educational provision. These conversations will make sure that:

- Everyone develops a good understanding of the student's areas of strength and difficulty.
- We take into account the parents' concerns.
- Everyone understands the agreed outcomes sought for the child.
- Everyone is clear on what the next steps are.
- We will formally notify parents when it is decided that a student will receive SEND support.

Assessing and reviewing students' progress towards outcomes

We will follow the graduated approach and the four-part cycle of assess, plan, do, review.

The class or subject teacher will work with the SENDCO/Assistant SENDCOs to carry out a clear analysis of the student's needs. This will draw on:

- The teacher's assessment and experience of the student
- Their previous progress and attainment and behaviour
- Other teachers' assessments, where relevant
- The individual's development in comparison to their peers and national data which could be evidenced through observations carried out by Assistant SENDCO or external specialist staff
- The views and experience of parents
- The student's own views
- Advice from external support services, if relevant

The assessment will be reviewed regularly.

All teachers and support staff who work with the student will be made aware of their needs, the outcomes sought, the support provided, and any teaching strategies or approaches that are required. We will regularly review the effectiveness of the support and interventions and their impact on the student's progress.

Supporting pupils moving between phases and preparing for adulthood

We will share information with the school, college, or other setting the student is moving to. We will agree with parents and pupils which information will be shared as part of this.

Our approach to teaching pupils with SEND

Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all the pupils in their class.

High quality teaching is our first step in responding to pupils who have SEND. This will be differentiated for individual pupils.

We will also provide the following interventions:

- Literacy intervention
- Numeracy intervention
- SEMH support
- Social Skills intervention
- Resilience Intervention

Adaptations to the curriculum and learning environment.

We make the following adaptations to ensure all pupils' needs are met:

- Our curriculum is planned and adapted, to ensure all pupils are able to access it, for example, by grouping, 1:1 work, teaching style, content of the lesson, etc.
- Adapting our resources and staffing
- Using recommended aids, such as laptops, coloured overlays, visual timetables, larger font, etc.
- Teaching is delivered to the needs of each student, for example, giving longer processing times, pre-teaching of key vocabulary, reading instructions aloud, etc.

Additional support for learning

We have a number of skilled teaching assistants who are trained to deliver interventions such as literacy and numeracy. Teaching assistants will support students on a 1:1 basis where appropriate and in small groups to encourage social interaction and promote independent learning.

We work with the following agencies to provide support for pupils with SEND:

Expertise and training of staff

The SENDCO is allocated a faculty capitation each financial year.

Curriculum departments are responsible, through their own capitation allowances, for providing differentiated resources and materials where relevant and appropriate for students with additional needs.

In order to maintain and develop the quality of teaching and provision to respond to the strengths and needs of all students, all members of staff receive regular access to training and development.

The Inclusion Faculty consists of highly qualified, experienced and committed staff. We have high expectations and encourage, nurture, and provide consistency and continuity in the support which is appropriate to student needs.

SEND training is provided to all staff for specific educational needs. Significant focused training will take place prepared for those students that transition from primary school with additional needs, to ensure for continuity of support.

SEND Training briefs are timetabled twice every half term for Assistant SENDCOs to provide information and support for teaching staff on SEND approaches, strategies, and where appropriate individual students information and required support.

Evaluating the effectiveness of SEND provision.

We evaluate the effectiveness of provision for pupils with SEND by:

- Reviewing pupils' individual progress towards their goals each term
- Reviewing the impact of interventions every 6/12 weeks
- Using student questionnaires
- Power Bi/Form Matrix to monitor progress in subjects.
- Holding annual reviews for students with statements of SEND or EHC plans
- SEND is quality assured by the SENDCo.

Enabling pupils with SEND to engage in activities available to those in the school who do not have SEND.

Individual and group support at unsupervised times is available for identified students. Most curriculum areas have extra-curricular activities on offer and there is an extensive range of opportunities outside of normal curriculum hours such as competitive team clubs, educational visits and residential holidays.

The inclusion faculty has clubs available which offer support for homework, revision and social skills. If any student requires support to attend extra-curricular activities this will be available. We readily encourage students with special educational needs to participate in extra-curricular clubs.

Teachers and support staff are on duty at break and at lunchtime to provide support for students to encourage interaction with peers within the school environment, while encouraging independence.

Support for improving emotional and social development.

We provide support for pupils to improve their emotional and social development in the following ways:

- Encourage friendship groups and clubs.
- Access to school counsellor
- Access to 1 to 1 support with Key Worker
- Safe space in the Inclusion Faculty support

Working with other agencies

The inclusion faculty will have regular input with Lead Practitioners/Heads of Faculty and Pastoral staff to discuss needs of students and this discussion, where appropriate, may give reason to refer into number of agencies that the school would use to support the student.

These may include:

- School nurse
- CAMHS
- Kooth
- Forty Second Street
- Bury LA Inclusion Support Panel

Complaints about SEND provision

It is hoped that the school's openness provides an effective channel for expressions of concern, and that these will initially be addressed to the Assistant SENDCOs. Parents who wish to take any matter further may follow the school's policy on complaints procedure following the link:
